Executive Coaching with Marcy Stoudt & Team

Women in Leadership

OUR NICHE

We don't exclusively work with women, but it is our targeted demographic.

It is difficult for busy, driven professional women to slow down long enough to focus on their leadership development. And if they are feeling dissatisfaction or confusion in their work, it's hard to know where to turn for confidential guidance and support – and the results they crave!

At Revel Coach, we find the best results when there is a tangible business priority or problem to solve. Along the way to exploring solutions for her, we also uncover real-time leadership, organizational development and time management skills to enhance.

I am confident that there is no better time than NOW for women to be successful at work and home, which is why we invested in our coaching services to provide more mentorship for more results. We purposefully create a safe place for our clients to explore the unique challenges & opportunities that come with the working mom journey.

WHY HIRE US?

Our Customer Engagement Strategy

Hiring a consultant or coach doesn't need to be complicated. Whether it's a short-term priority or a long-term engagement we make it easy to engage as needed. While flexibility is our strength, we never compromise our focus on results.

Our Personal Experience

Coaching is one of the fastest-growing industries for a reason. There are many coaches out there, but there aren't many who can leverage their personal experience as an executive, coach and mother.

Our Client Experience

We've designed a comprehensive, yet practical coaching experience. Since we blend the disciplines of executive coaching, business consulting, and mentorship, our clients feel supported and empowered.

Our Network

Our members are women who share a passion for mentoring and supporting one another. We range from experienced executives & entrepreneurs to stay-at-home moms who are leaders in the community. Unlike any other network, we are a team of women ready to go above and beyond so you never feel alone.

AN EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP PROGRAM FOR MEN & WOMEN

REVEL COACH - 2022

Defining, Refining, Executing Strategy

Effective strategies are agile. Making it a part of your every day is the best way for you and your teams to execute strategy in a way that feels effortless.

Leading Teams

While leadership is one of the most rewarding opportunities in a career, it can also be emotionally draining without an effective system. Together we work on techniques to listen to your teams, communicate expectations of top-grade talent, and build a culture that retains top talent.

Consistent Results

Establishing a results-oriented workforce creates focus and purpose. Strong leaders develop an operating rhythm that reduces wasted time and increases employee engagement and satisfaction.

Leadership Development

You can check no certification or box that says you have accomplished "leadership." There are skills to refine and develop with every promotion and new challenge. Examples could include EQ, Conflict resolution, inclusive leadership, leading remote teams, public speaking, etc.
